

A PROPHECY GIVEN BY MARC DUPONT
AT A PASTOR'S MEETING WESTSIDE CHRISTIAN CENTRE
MELBOURNE

25 June 1999

His hand is upon this city. He has chosen this city, in His timing and His own purposes. He has called you to this city. He is doing something that you would be amazed in this day and this hour and this time that you would not believe it if you were told.

But God says throughout the world He has chosen watering places, He has chosen places to open up the heavens, He has chosen places to bring the early rains and the late rains. He has chosen places to send out His presence to march across the land, to bring the rains to the parched lands, the widows and orphans, the fatherless, they cry out. They have a cry in their heart that is a silent cry in the most part but the people around them and often times even the church cannot hear. But God says there is a cry resonating through the heavens coming up before His throne from this city.

God has chosen this city. He is doing something this day, this age, this hour; you would not believe it if you were told. The Lord says His glory is going to go forth in Melbourne. He is going to pour out His glory and it will not go to man, it will not go to any specific leader, but God is looking for carriers of His presence. He is calling to people today to take forth the fire of His presence, a people who are consumed by His fire.

He is not so much saying this will happen because of this person or that will happen because of this anointing but He has opened up the doors to those who will call upon Him, those who will seek Him, those who cannot live without Him.

And He is saying He is going to take those people from having a message to becoming the message. To becoming a reflection of His heart, His compassion, His glory and they shall burn brightly in this area, but the fire that they burn and the heat that they give off shall not be their own flames, they shall take forth the flames of the consuming one.

The Lord says know this in this time, this day, this age, this hour it is not so much that you have chosen Him but He has chosen you. Do not be deceived, do not trust in the past, do not allow your understanding of the future to be controlled by what you have seen or what you've heard because God has things for this city that your eyes have not seen, your ears have not heard and not entered into your understanding.

The Lord would say to you this day the cup is not half empty, the cup is half full and it is going to increase and it is going to increase and it is going to increase and the waters are going to flow, the waters are going to flow, the waters of life, the waters of healing, the waters of restoration, the waters of hope. The waters are going to flow. The presence of God is coming to Melbourne.

The Lord will go forth with a shout, the waters will come to the parched lands, the fatherless will find they have a father, the widows and orphans will have a hope again.

The time is coming when healings and miracles are not going to be the exception but they are going to become the norm. A time is coming when teachers, when principals, when politicians - you're not going to have to call them to find favor with them but they are going to be calling church leaders to find favor with the church. And they are going to say can you send this one to lead a prayer meeting, can you send this one to speak at an assembly, can you send this one to pray over our meeting. The Lord says that the time is coming that He is doing something in the very depths of this city that you would not believe even if you were told.

The Lord says His glory will go forth in Melbourne.

There are waves. There are tidal waves that are coming upon the parched lands, upon this island of Australia. The flow of God's Spirit will cover the nation. He has sovereignly chosen this nation. He has sovereignly chosen a nation where other nations sent their prisoners and their convicts to. And out of the waste places, out of the places that no one would think God gives birth to salvation. And the Lord says that there are going to be messengers of fire going from Melbourne and going from Australia to the ends of the earth. There are going to be messengers of fire. There are going to be messengers of the consuming fire of God's presence going from Australia to the ends of the earth. And they are going to say, "Have you heard, do you understand what God did in the dry places of my home? Do you understand that the waters came to the parched lands and the springs rose up where there were no springs? The fire fell where there was no fire."

The Lord has His hand upon this nation. The Lord has His hand upon this nation.

There is a race being run today, the fore-runner spirit has been released upon the church. To ascend the high places and bring down the mountains, to go to the low places and raise up the valleys – to prepare a way for the Lord. The fore-runner spirit has been released in Australia and those fore-runners are going to go to the ends of the earth. They're not just going to walk from blessing to blessing. But they're going to run from glory to glory.

Long ago, long before the foundation of this world began, God desired to create this Great Island that to many would appear a waste place, a place of a huge desert. And God says in His wisdom He chooses what appears as foolishness to man. So He said go ahead send the prisoners, send the poor, send the outcast because I am going to do something that according to the foolishness of the wisdom of man is utter foolishness, but I will be glorified in this island and I will send that glory to the nations.

Do not be deceived, do not be disheartened do not be hopeless, do not trust in the status quo, do not trust in tradition, do not allow your understanding of the future to be controlled by the past. God is doing something in these days you would not believe if you were told.
